

Kenny Ames

Director of Operations

Kenny Ames is the Director of Operations at Estes + Sinacori Builders. Kenny has more than 40 years of experience in the commercial construction industry. He has worked on a wide variety of project types during his career and has a strong background in estimating, scheduling, project management and quality control practices. He is an expert at identifying project challenges and resolving them efficiently across all stages of the project life cycle.

Kenny's success in this industry is attributed to the relationships developed over the years with owners, architects and subcontractors. His genuine demeanor, commitment to quality, knowledge of the industry, communication and leadership style make him a valuable asset to any project.

Kenny's favorite part of his job is visiting clients after they have moved into their new space that we helped to create. He loves to hear about their success and how their new space has helped them continue to grow, chase their dreams, and reach their goals. These conversations often turn into friendships and for Kenny, that part never gets old.
